CrawlerForge Loot Boxes GM Guide

Nov 11, 2026 · @Rob

Two ways to get a box to a player

Award boxes inside a CrawlerForge Campaign whenever you can: the box lands on the player's crawler already rolled, and their crawler export carries every item, Gold and potion into Crawler Companion. Sending a pack file works too, best for Listed boxes.

two routes from the Forge to Crawler Companion

In a Campaign, CrawlerForge rolls a Random box the moment you award it. A pack file carries the box as you built it, so a Listed box opens in full and a Random one only rolls its Gold in Crawler Companion.

Create a Loot Box in the Forge

Every box starts in the Forge, and the one choice that matters most is its Contents: Listed (you pick every line) or Random (rolled fresh for each crawler who receives it).

1. Open the Forge. Under Crawler kit, find Loot boxes and press Create.
2. At How will you fill it?, pick Build by hand to choose every line, or Generate to roll it from the book's tables, your Forge and Discover. Generate gives you a Listed box you can reroll line by line before you save.
3. Pick the tier (Bronze, Silver, Gold, Platinum, Legendary or Celestial), then give it a Type (Adventurer, Boss, Pet, Savage and so on), a Name and a Description.

4. On the Contents step, choose Listed or Random (below).
5. Press Save box. The box opens on its own page, with Edit, Add to pack, Export, Publish and Delete.

Listed contents

Press Add content and pick a content type for each line:

Content type	You set	Example
Item	An item from your Forge or Discover, or Build an item, and a quantity	Standard Mana Potion x3
Gold	A number or dice	`400` or `1d10x100`
Misc. Junk	A number or dice	`1d6`
Skill potion	Ranks and a Skill, or Player's choice	+1 Ranks, Player's choice
Stat potion	Stat Points and a Stat, or Player's choice	+1 Constitution
Skill	A Skill name and a Rank	Lockpicking at Rank 3
Text	Anything else	"A note from your sponsor."

Random contents

- Draws from sets where its items come from: The tier's items (the usual draw), Items tagged (one tag, any tier), or A chart (one roll on your chart per item).
- Counts starts By the book. Change any number to make it Custom, or press Back to the book.

Tier	Items	Consumables	Skill/Stat potions	Gold
Bronze	1	2	0	1d10
Silver	1	2	1	1d10x100
Gold	1	2	1	1d6x1000
Platinum	1	2	1	2d6x1000

Tier	Items	Consumables	Skill/Stat potions	Gold
Legendary	2	2	1	1d10x10000
Celestial	2	2	1	none

Pick Random for boxes you'll award in a Campaign. Pick Listed (or Generate) for boxes you'll send as a file, since a file can't roll new items.

Award boxes in a Campaign

Awarding inside a Campaign is the best route: CrawlerForge rolls a Random box for each crawler at that moment, and the box waits on the player's sheet with its real contents.

One crawler

1. Open your Campaign and go to the Crawlers tab.
2. On the crawler's card, press Award.
3. Search for the box by name, pick it and award it.

The whole party

1. On the Table tab, press Award the party (above the Mobs).
2. Pick the box. Every living seated crawler starts ticked; untick anyone who should miss out.
3. Award it. A Random box rolls fresh for each crawler, so everyone gets their own contents.

Other ways a box gets awarded

- Mob loot: on a Mob's Loot step in the Forge, add a Loot Box (with odds like 1 in 6 if you want). When it dies at the table, the Award sheet opens with the box already picked.
- Scenario rewards: a Neighborhood or Quest's Rewards and Items & Clues open the Award sheet with Grant and Hand out.
- Achievements: give an Achievement a Loot Box as its reward, and awarding the Achievement awards the box.
- Charts: a chart row that links an Item or Achievement offers Award when you roll it.

Saferooms and players without a sheet

- With the House rule The GM opens saferooms on (under Manage), awarded boxes wait until you open the saferoom from the Table tab. That matches the book: boxes are opened in a saferoom.
- For a player with no CrawlerForge sheet, type their name in your roller's Label, choose Open a box… and pick the box. What was inside posts to the Feed under their name, and they add it to Crawler Companion by hand.
- If a box doesn't show on the Award sheet, check it's saved in your Forge, or share it with the table under Manage, Sharing.

Send boxes as a pack file

A pack file is the way to go when players aren't in your Campaign, or you want to hand out boxes ahead of time: export the pack and Crawler Companion reads it directly.

1. On the box's page, press Add to pack and pick a pack, or make a New pack. To add several at once, tick them in My Creations and add them together.
2. Add the items your Listed boxes hold to the same pack, so the file carries them.
3. Open the pack's page from My Packs and press Export. Your browser saves a file named like `pack-floor-3-rewards.json`.
4. Send the file to your players on Discord, by email or in a shared folder.

- Export on a single box's page, or on rows ticked in My Creations, makes the same kind of file.
- Keep these boxes Listed. A file carries a Random box only as its tier and counts, so Crawler Companion rolls its Gold and leaves the rest to you. Generate makes a Listed box from the tables if you want random-feeling loot in a file.
- One pack per reward drop keeps things clear, like a pack per Floor or per Boss. Players tick only the boxes meant for them.
- Players don't need CrawlerForge at all for this route, only Crawler Companion.

What the player does next

The player loads the file into Crawler Companion's Gear tab and presses Open on the box. `Crawler Companion Player Guide` covers it step by step.

After a Campaign award

1. The box shows on their CrawlerForge sheet as waiting in their Gear. They can leave it unopened, or open it in CrawlerForge. Either way it comes across.
2. They open the Crawler, press Manage, then Export this Crawler.
3. In Crawler Companion, Load from CrawlerForge, choose the file, Load it.
4. Open on the box's Inventory row.

From a pack file

1. They save the file you sent.
2. In Crawler Companion, Load from CrawlerForge, choose the file, tick the boxes, Add to Inventory.
3. Open on the box's row.

Opening adds the items to their Inventory, rolls Gold and Junk, drinks potions (they pick the Skill or Stat for a Player's choice potion) and teaches any Skill in the box.

Tips and rules to keep in mind

A few book rules and Crawler Companion limits shape how you build boxes.

Boss boxes by tier (Core p. 22)

Boss	Box
Neighborhood Boss	Bronze Boss Box
Borough Boss	Silver Boss Box
City Boss	Gold Boss Box
Province Boss	Platinum Boss Box
Country Boss	Legendary Boss Box
Floor Boss	Celestial Boss Box

Book rules

- A crawler can only ever drink two Stat potions and two Skill potions (Core p. 226). Crawler Companion warns players past that, so keep potions special.
- Stat potions raise both Unenhanced and Enhanced Stats.

- Enchanted gear gets rolls on Tables 38 to 42 by tier: none at Bronze, then 1 at Silver up to 5 at Celestial (Core p. 219).
- Boxes are opened in a saferoom, and an unopened box can't be taken from a body.

Building boxes Crawler Companion reads well

- Build item effects from CrawlerForge's own effect types: Stat (including All Stats), Skill Ranks, DR, Evade, and a consumable that heals or restores Mana. Crawler Companion applies those as bonuses and uses; everything else (Move, extra damage, a percentage Stat bonus, an inherent Spell) goes into the item's notes as words.
- Keep box and item names short and plain. The name becomes the Inventory row on the sheet, and brackets and semicolons are dropped.
- Use Player's choice on a potion when you want the player to pick; Crawler Companion asks when they open it.
- Each sheet holds 20 Inventory rows. A big box with many separate items can fill a player's Inventory, and Crawler Companion won't open a box that doesn't fit.

What Crawler Companion can't do

- Roll a Random box's items, consumables or potions. Award it in a Campaign, or Generate a Listed box instead.
- Replay crafting, alchemy or enchanting from a crawler file. It warns the player when the file has them.